Daddy-daughter dance

One of the most popular programs of the year, the Daddy-Daughter Dance, remains popular with Wayne residents as some 100 fathers and daughters showed up on "date night" to participate in the dance. The program was staged at the Wayne Community Center on the eve of Valentine's Day - and what better night to have a program like that?

Democrats to hear advocate of long-term patient nursing care

Michael Connors, a long term patient care advocate, is the keynote speaker at the Westland Democratic Club's Feb. 27 meeting.

Local residents are invited to hear Connors' arguments for improved long-term care, which has become one of the most crucial issues on the legislative agenda in Lansing as well as

Washington

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held at the Dorsey Community Center, 32715 Dorsey Road, in Westland.

Connors will discuss during his presentation the recently released, second edition of the nursing home industry's "Consumer Guide."

Is the guide factual or is it misleading?

If you have a family member residing in a care home or someone who will soon be residing in a nursing home, you may want to hear what Connors has to say.

For further information, interested residents are urged to contact the Westland Democratic Club by dialing 734-422-5863.

NEWS FROM THE CITY OF INKSTER

Friends of the Rouge Schools, students offered unique project

Local schools and students will have a unique opportunity to participate in a project that will teach them about water pollution and water quality, according to Muzaffar Lakhani, director of Public Service for the City of Inkster.

The project is called the Rouge Education Project.

"The project is a unique opportunity coordinated by the Friends of the Rouge, and it is focused at elementary through high school students and educators who will be taught how to monitor the life flow of the Rouge River," stressed the Inkster DPS director.

The education project will combine water quality testing, watershed education and computer networking to encourage students to affect change in their community, stressed Lakhani.

The 2000-2001 Rouge Education Project is scheduled for May 10-23.

Lakhani explained that the interdisciplinary focus centers on the components of research, data collection and problem-solving or action taking.

Data collection is done through water quality testing.

"It is essential that the quality of a river be measured over time to detect any changes that have occurred in the ecosystem," Lakhani pointed out who also noted that the project studies the river's quality through time indicators: dissolved oxygen, fecal coliform, pH, biochemical oxygen demand, temperature, total phosphate, nitrates and total solids.

Pollution will reduce the number of species in the water by eliminating organisms that are sensitive to changes in water quality.

Lakhani said that any elementary, middle or high school is invited to join the project. Each school pays $350 for a new elementary or $500 for a new middle/high school, and the cost covers participation for one teacher, one complete set of water quality testing equipment, access to the Rouge Education Project website and listserv, and the opportunity to attend any of nine teacher training workshops at no cost.

Future participation will require a nominal fee.

Lakhani said that the Rouge Education Project outlines water treatment procedures. Students and teachers team up to pursue these problem-solving courses of action.

For further information about the Rouge Education Project contact Lakhani who can be reached at 734-563-9773.

Council approves ice rink repairs

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The Wayne City Council Tuesday night approved a site plan for the repairs at the Community Ice Rink, with several conditions attached.

The plans called for renovations totaling $616,170 which will include repairs to the roof of the facility, new bleachers, a new dehumidification system and also improvements to the locker and skater rental areas.

The site plan was placed on mayor and council's table with a recommendation for approval by the Planning Commissioners. However, the commissioners had six stipulations including the need for the applicant to obtain the necessary permits and pay required fees from the Building Division of the Building and Engineering Department and the Water and Sewer Department before they can proceed.

Also, a second stipulation called for the applicant to provide a fully dimensioned drawn to scale building and engineering plan which would have to be reviewed and approved by a Building Official prior to construction.

Fieger, Governor protest, Detroit march push deepwell to spotlight

Okay, I admit, I was wrong. I wrote a couple of weeks ago that the EDS deepwell in Romulus was all but built. It was my opinion that there was no reason to continue to protest the project because it would gain final MDEQ approval and be built whether residents wanted it or not.

Although it is still my opinion that Romulus residents should be talking about concessions and royalties versus keeping the project out of the city totally, some people like local council person Debbie Romak do not want to listen.

And Romak, along with State Rep. Ray Basham are really turning the heat up. A weekend ago, Romak, who is the leader of an anti-well group known as RECAP, assembled her minions and bussed to Lansing, where they spent the day picketing Gov. Engler's mansion. The purpose of the picketing was to hope Engler would intervene and overturn MDEQ's decision.

No way that was going to happen. It is believed Engler feels this type of technology is much safer than dumping the waste in landfills and rivers, and is staunchly behind MDEQ's approval.

So despite some embarrassment, I'm sure the picketing was to no avail. Next step, the determined Romak was able to convince the Gov's gubernatorial opponent last time around, flamboyant attorney, Geoffrey Fieger to hold a press conference.

Fieger stepped up to the podium at Romulus City Hall and likened this fight to the Boston Tea Party. Instead of tea, however, Fieger affixed the monicker "Rumble in Romulus," and then proceeded to call for a Grand Jury and other investigations because Engler had persuaded the MDEQ to overturn a citizen's site review board that had voted against the well. Fieger, without any proof, claimed campaign contributions were the reason for the reversal.

Why Fieger bothered with the press conference is unclear. He was retained by no one, and probably knew little about the issue until the press conference. Will he continue the fight? Probably not unless someone delivers a big sack of money.

But Romak and friends have not stopped with Fieger. A hastily organized meeting was called by Ray Basham for this Wednesday night. Basham was joined by officials from the City of Romulus, Taylor, members of RECAP and the Downriver Association of Realtors.

One major issue that was discussed is a planned protest of the City of Detroit's Policemen and Firemen Retirement System. This retirement fund has invested $11 million into the EDS well project. A placard-carrying, bullhorn-type protest of the Coleman A. Young Municipal Building (home of the retirement fund) is planned for 9 a.m. March 1.

Fieger, a march on the Governor's mansion, and a marching protest in downtown Detroit have all been organized in a little over two weeks. Far be it for me to say the issue is over. If you talk to Debbie Romak, it's just beginning!

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Pistol-whipper slapped on wrist

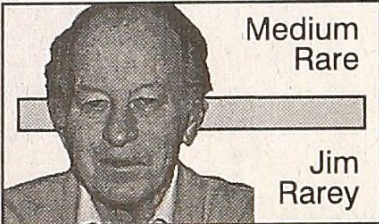

The 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution states, "No state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Everyone (liberals, conservatives and moderates) agrees that means there will be no favoritism in the application of the laws, particularly the criminal laws.

Michael Duggan, elected to the Office of Wayne County Prosecutor last November, ran on a platform of tough law enforcement. He placed particular emphasis on strict enforcement of laws on domestic violence and gun violations.

After the November election, the state legislature passed, and the governor signed, a so-called "shall issue" law on permits to carry concealed weapons (CCW). The law requires issuing such a permit to anyone who requests it who is not disqualified under exceptions in the law.

Almost immediately, a petition drive was started to overturn the state law spearheaded by Duggan and newly elected State Attorney General Jennifer Granholm. Both maintain that allowing ordinary citizens to carry weapons for self defense would result in an increase in gun violence (contrary to statistics that show the opposite in states with "shall issue" laws). Duggan renewed his promise to vigorously enforce existing gun laws.

Medium Rare

Then last week, like manna from heaven, a case fell into Duggan's lap that he could use to prove his campaign promises. A Detroit man had been accused by his wife of long-term domestic abuse culminating last week in her husband pistol whipping her and shoving her down a flight of stairs. The icing on the cake: the husband had a permit to carry a concealed weapon.

But there was one problem. The perpetrator was Clyde Cleveland, a Detroit City Councilman. Cleveland's 30 years on the council makes him one of the longest serving African-American city officials in the country.

Cleveland was originally charged with felonious assault, aggravated domestic violence and a felony gun violation.

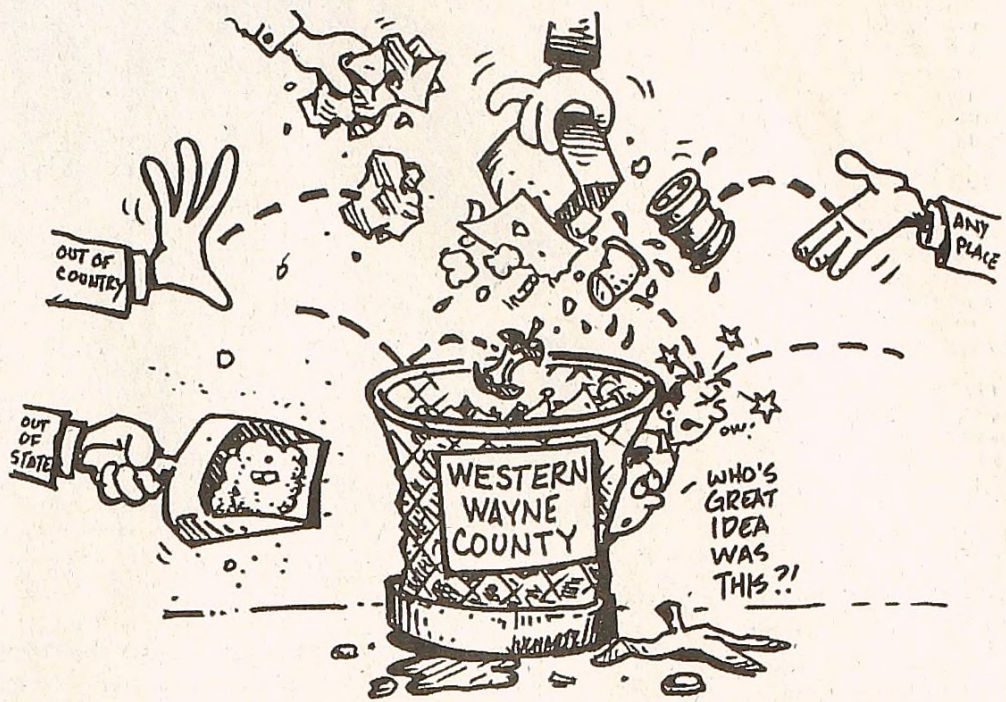

At first he denied the charges but then worked out a "plea bargain" with the county prosecutor's office (Duggan).

The two felony charges will be dismissed, which will allow Cleveland to stay on the council, and he will plead guilty to aggravated domestic violence.

The sentence includes 3 years probation, 2,000 hours of community service, and he cannot possess a firearm for two years. He also agreed to undergo a psychiatric evaluation. Hopefully the community service will not comprise counseling students on conflict resolution.

And what of Duggan's vow of strict enforcement against domestic violence and gun violations?

Perhaps we have already reached the stage described by George Orwell in his book, Animal Farm, where everyone is equal, but some are more equal than others.

Canton works on Presidents Day

This year Presidents Day fell 59 years to the day of President Franklin Roosevelt's Executive Order 9066, the one that sent 120,000 Japanese-Americans to concentrations camps in California.

Yet many consider Roosevelt our greatest president for ending the Great Depression, signing the Social Security legislation, and leading the reluctant country into WWII.

Enough contradictions there to make plenty of Roosevelt buffs.

I thought of FDR on Presidents Day and about Martin Luther King Jr. Day while hanging around Canton Township Hall. Unlike most government offices, Canton remains open on Presidents Day and on King Day.

Funny that no fans of George Washington or Abraham Lincoln complained that Canton did not shut down for Presidents Day. Or that nobody demanded that the township sponsor an educational celebration — attendance required for township employees — for them.

This tells me something about the motives of the people beating up on Canton for not closing down government offices on King Day: these people are only interested in King, not in treating all holidays honoring our nation's heroes the same.

It seems to me that by distinguishing how King Day is celebrated from how Presidents Day is, they're unintentionally dishonoring King by the arbitrary discrimination.

If King, Lincoln, and Washington are recognized as equal heroes, then all have equal claim to a day off. Canton and other communities rightly treat them the same.

As for the educational King

Ivan Helfman

Day programs sponsored by the government, I find them demeaning. Like the presidents, King should be taught as part of students American history classes. Something is wrong if holiday time is needed for the government to tell people who a national icon is.

We don't need a cram session to learn about the presidents. We all learned about them in school. And some of us become presidential history buffs, read up on our heroes or travel to their homes or libraries or places associated with them.

While not exactly a buff, I've toured Jefferson's home in Monticello and done drive-by waves at the homes of Ronald Reagan and Richard Nixon.

And I've read a lot about FDR. His unattractive qualities: how he would be propped up to disguise his paralysis in public; his harboring of a deadbeat dad, Harold Hopkins, in the White House; how, in a brief flirt with American economic fascism, he introduced the Blue Eagle, a variation on the swastika concept, to rally workers behind the National Recovery Act. (The public collectively tossed the Blue Eagle out the window after the tyrannical agency tried to prosecute a tailor for charging too much money to alter a pair of pants.)

His good qualities: his charm; his leadership; his decisiveness in fighting WWII.

Like most heroes, there's enough contradictions in Roosevelt to account for his deification in the 1940s after the great military victory, and for his fall in the 1950s after the victory seemed short-lived.

Same with Ronald Reagan, who topped a recent Gallup Poll that asked the public to name America's greatest president.

Some will tell you that Reagan won the Cold War and created long-lasting prosperity. Others will tell you that he was a nice guy who was lucky enough to be president when the Cold War ended, but who foolishly created a false prosperity by putting the country into debt.

A few years ago, Reagan was ridiculed for his shaky memory, now recognized as the onset of Alzheimer's disease. Now the public rates him the best president ever.

Heroes rise and fall in public opinion.

Once upon a time, a picture of George Armstrong Custer hung on a wall in almost every saloon in the United States. Now you'd have to go pretty far to even hear a good word about the old Indian-hunter.

All of this happens without Canton closing down their town hall.

I think that it's time for Canton's King Day boosters to change their direction. Quit making distinctions about King. Treat him like other national heroes. Settle for no less than George Washington get, but no more.

Work to get have King's life taught in the public schools with all its contradictions.

When King is as praised and damned as Roosevelt, when he rises and falls in public opinion like Ronald Reagan: only then will King's life achieve the stature and respect he deserves.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Approve well, professor says

To the editor:

I am writing to you as a professor of Geology and the Director of the Michigan Basin Core Research Laboratory, which I established in 1982. I have been a resident of Michigan for over twenty two years.

My professional geoscience activities for the last fifty years have centered on studying the subsurface layers of rock in the Michigan basin. My students and I have done numerous cooperative research and consulting projects dealing with Michigan geology. We have worked in conjunction with the Michigan Department of Natural Resource, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the U.S. Department of Energy.

Many of our projects have been cooperative ventures with major and independent oil and gas producing companies in Michigan and other states.

We have accumulated a very extensive data set from about 45,000 wells drilled in the state of Michigan. This data set includes logs describing the physical properties of the subsurface strata; analyses measuring the composition, porosity, and permeability of most formations; actual well-drilling samples from hundreds of wells; and over 25,000 feet of cores of various rock layers as shallow as a few hundred feet to depths in excess of 17,000 feet below the surface.

Opposition to EDS' facility appears to be centered around a small group of residents in Romulus. These citizens have adopted an all too familiar "not in my backyard" attitude. I fear that failure to approve EDS' applications in Romulus would result in these type of commercial wells being developed in rural areas of our state away from population centers, but also away from the industrial sources which generate the waste.

Such action would further result in large numbers of trucks bringing waste liquids from southeastern Michigan out to the rural areas for disposal. As responsible policy makers for the State of Michigan, it is incumbent on public servants. Like the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to be well informed as to the risk and benefits of technology in our society.

One of the projects completed by the Core Lab, and which I supervised, was a contract with the U.S. E.P.A. to study the suitability of the "basal sandstone", i.e. Mt. Simon Formation as a disposal unit for liquid waste injection.

Our project was part of a multi-state study in the Great Lakes region. This study concluded that this sandstone was well-suited for this type of waste disposal. It was also noted that deep injection wells are one of the safest techniques for the disposal of these types of waste.

The report of this study, published in 1989, is entitled "Hydrogeologic and Hydrochemical Assessment of the Basal Sandstone and overlying Paleozoic Age Units for Wastewater Injection and Confinement in the North Central Region."

In the preface of this document, the Underground Injection Practices Council states:

"The practice of deep well disposal of liquid waste has been, is currently, and will likely remain, an important part of the overall solution to proper disposal of hazardous and non-hazardous wastes. In that light, this report should serve as a valuable tool for persons concerned with the placement and use of deep well disposal systems."

The southeastern part of our state has a strong and diverse economy based on industrial manufacturing. These businesses, however, generate considerable waste as a result of their production practices. It seems that the communities who derive the great economic benefit of industry should also bear the responsibility of the waste products. It is unacceptable to export the pollution we create in this state.

The disposal of waste in our modern society is a crucial issue that should not be decided by emotionalism. The preponderance of evidence is simply that underground injection of liquid waste is far safer than any type of surface storage or interment in landfills.

Numerous subsurface layers have historically been used in Michigan for the disposal of liquid waste. Our knowledge of these layers is good and the technology for construction and operation of disposal wells has never been better. Current State and Federal regulations require a thorough review of the proposed, well site and allow for public comment through the hearing process. Once a well is constructed, strict monitoring requirements have assured safe operations and protection of our valuable drinking water.

In conclusion, I strongly urge the MDEQ's approval of the EDS applications. We should not limit the options that are available for waste disposal. Different systems may be useful under different conditions.

Michigan subsurface formations that have been used for underground injection often are ideal reservoirs for storage of liquid wastes. Disposal of liquids through deep well injection is not only safe, but extremely efficient and should result in reduction of disposal cost, thereby improving the economics of operation for Michigan industry.

In conjunction with the proximity to the large industrial region that produces great quantities of liquid waste, deep disposal injection wells in southeastern Michigan are geologically and economically ideally sited.

Sincerely,
William B. Harrison III

News from the City of Romulus

Romulus first to earn NCA endorse

All seven Romulus district schools have achieved the North Central Association's Transitional Endorsement. Romulus will become the first Michigan school district to receive the NCA five year transitional endorsement. Both NCA head evaluator Mike Bugenski and NCA representative Deb Clancy were complimentary about the educational leadership demonstrated by Romulus.

Commenting on Romulus's plan, Bugenski stated, "Every school district in America should have a plan like this. You leave no child behind." Clancy said she was impressed with the student-parent-teacher exit interviews at each level, the availability of interventions such as after school tutoring, and "with the unified systemic approach to student achievement for all." Clancy explained that nearly 50 schools are undertaking the transitional endorsement at this time. The Romulus report will receive final consideration from the Commission on Schools on April 1.

Both Wick Elementary Principal Debbie Juriga and High School NCA Coordinator Gail Coleman were singled out for their efforts in preparing the district-wide presentation.

Barth students got to experience a ride on their magic carpets to many far off lands as part of a theatrical performance presented by Carpet One.

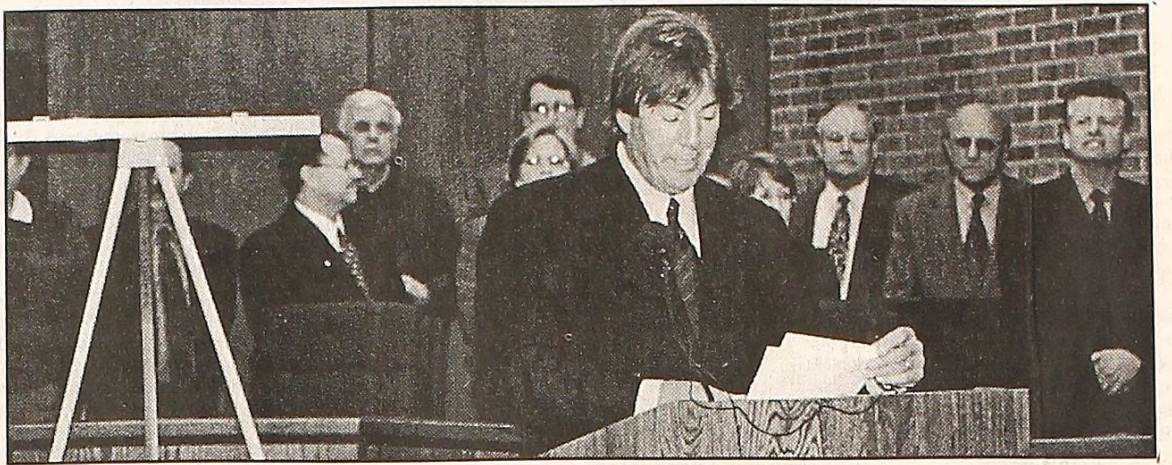

Students take magic reading ride

Barth Elementary students were recently treated to a Carpet One Reading Adventures program. Barth parent Tina Marie Dunn, who works for Independent Carpet One, was able to get a complimentary performance for the Barth school of this innovative, theater performance. Carpet one donated pieces of carpet, coloring books and the actors, props and special effects necessary for the theatrical performance. The "Reading is an Adventure" program showed students how they could take a magic carpet ride on their carpet to different lands. The thought is to inspire students to read by making it a lot of fun to experience the fables, poems, and fairy tales presented in the program.

Fieger joins anti-well fight

Wetland lawyers want more money

By JIM RAREY
MCN Special Writer

Late last year the Romulus City council authorized the mayor to enter into an agreement with the City of Taylor and Wayne County to share the cost of attorneys' fees to explore options in contesting the MDEQ's action in granting a wetland permit to EDS for its Citrin Drive hazardous materials deep injection well project.

The council resolution pledged Romulus to pay an amount "not to exceed" one third of $10,000.

At the Feb. 13 council meeting, Mayor William Oakley apprised the council that the law firm engaged to perform the task had submitted a bill for $25,000 and Romulus was being asked to provide an additional $5,000.

It was not clear whether or not the law firm had performed outside the scope originally authorized. Mayor Oakley said, if they did it was with the approval (if any) of Taylor and the county and not Romulus.

The mayor said he was not going to recommend the council approve additional payment, leaving it to the council to decide.

Councilman William Crova opined that the council had put a limit on the amount the city would pay and did not feel obligated to increase that amount.

The council declined to take any action on the issue and asked for more information from Taylor and the county.

The lawyers did obtain an agreement from EDS that the property they would dedicate for wetlands (required by the MDEQ permit) would not be within the City of Romulus or within 10,000 feet of an airport runway.

Federal EPA and state MDEQ regulations require dedication of two acres as wetlands for each acre of wetlands allowed to be used in a project.

Deep well article great!

To the editor:
I have read your editorial on the injection well and Jimmie Raspberry's letter, both were great!
Its about time we heard some good old fashioned common sense on this issue.
Who do these protesters think they are, anyway? They sure don't speak for me, or my family, or my friends, or my neighbors. I'm not sure what's left.
You and Raspberry - keep the faith. There are a lot of people who agree with you.

What would AG think of Romak?

To the editor:
I have heard a lot lately about Romulus Councilwoman Debbie Romaks'encouragement of civil disobedience over the injection well issue. Why doesn't someone ask the Attorney General what she thinks about Mrs. Romaks' actions? Aren't we having enough problems with keeping our children off drugs and away from street crime? Do we really need someone like Romak thwarting our efforts? I think not. Its time to make a change on the Romulus City Council. Gene Adams

Belleville wraps up Mega-Red hoop crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Belleville bounced back from two frustrating losses and whipped Wayne Memorial, 71-47, Friday night to capture the 2000-2001 Mega Conference, Red Division basketball championship outright.

After losing to Willow Run, 78-73, last Friday, then falling to a revitalized Romulus in a thriller, 55-53, the Tigers were in trouble.

With their backs up against the wall, Coach Rod Fisher and his Tigers needed to beat Wayne in order to claim all of the championship.

Belleville, which had won 10 straight before losing two-in-a-row, didn't have any problems with the Zebras as Antoine Jordan and teammate Lorne Johnson had a field day.

Jordan came through with 17 points and Johnson, a sophomore, added 11 in the victory. The Tigers finished with a 10-2 Mega-Red record. They will go into the Mega Red-White playoffs this week as the "team to beat".

Gary Johnson, a 6-2 senior, led all scorers. The veteran Wayne ball player scored a game high 19 points. Earl Brinston finished with 11 for the Zebras who brought the curtains down on a 3-9 Mega-Red and a 7-9 overall record.

Wayne plays Inkster in a crossover Mega Conference matchup on Tuesday.

Earlier, Belleville was burned by Romulus, the hottest team in the second half of the season.

Romulus coach Guy DelGiudice knew he had to win his last two games, and hope that Wayne would get the job done against Belleville.

"Our kids did their job. Unfortunately, when your destiny is tied with someone else's, things always don't turn out the way you want them to."

In their conference finale, Ro-mus turned back a tough Willow Run squad, 88-82 as junior guard Deon Solomon had his best night since rejoining the club at midseason.

Solomon scored a game high 26 points and teammate Charles Searcy drilled 16 for the Eagles who finished with a 9-3 Mega-Red record which assured them to second place.

Romulus will enter the Mega-Red playoffs with a 9-3 record. The Eagles were scheduled to play Airport Tuesday night and will travel to Highland Park on Friday for the first round of the conference playoffs.

The Romulus-Belleville match-up Tuesday night was a duel between equals. The Tigers led 8-6 after one, but Romulus came back with seven points by Chris Talley and Solomon canned five of his 21 to lift the Eagles to a 24-22 halftime lead.

Holmes gave the Tigers a four-point cushion, 42-38, after three, setting up a suspenseful final quarter.

Solomon's 3-pointer, followed up by a basket from Searcy, countered baskets from Holmes and Jordan. After Romulus' Ron Coleman nailed a three and Chris Talley came back and stole the inbound pass and scored on a layup, the Eagles sealed the "W".

In the shootout against Willow Run's Flyers, Romulus finished with five players in double figures. Solomon's 25 topped the Eagles. Searcy contributed 16, and Talley counted 13 while Buckley and Mike Christopher had 11 and 10 points. Buckley also had eight rebounds and Daniel Jarrett swept the boards for six.

Willow Run's Pacino Horne, who scored only five points against the Eagles in the first-round game, tossed in a game high 30 points Friday night. He scored 11 in the first half and came up with 19 in the second.

Inkster's Darius Kincannon (11) was unstoppable in the first half against visiting Robichaud. The deceptive guard scored 16 points - all in the first half to lead the Vikings to a 65-43 victory Friday night before a standing room only crowd. Photo by Carl Brown

Rockets continue to plummet

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

You can't blame John Glenn coach Joel Lloyd for wondering what his team has to do to win one these days.

Though the Rockets have come close, 'close', as the adage goes, only counts in horseshoes.

Friday night, Lloyd and his Rockets did come close.

Glenn jumped on host, Farmington, early. The Rockets grabbed a 12-7 lead, but Farmington came back, thanks to its free-throw shooting, to move to a 21-20 halftime lead, then they outscored their visitors by 10 in the third period en route to a 56-44 Western Lakes Conference victory.

In another close one earlier last week, Glenn fell to Livonia Franklin and senior guard Joe Ruggiero. The Patriots - or was it a Patriot - shot down the Rockets 55-52.

The loss left Glenn in the second-half of the conference's final standings and, on the outside looking in, for the upcoming conference playoffs. The top eight teams will battle for the playoff title, while the bottom four, which includes Glenn, will play in a consolation playoff.

Tuesday night, the Westlanders hosted Farmington Hills Harrison in the first round, and the winner of that game will play tonight at 7 at Livonia Churchill against the winner of the Franklin-Churchill game.

Glenn got off to a good start against Farmington thanks to Mike Goree who scored eight of his 14 points in the opening period.

Farmington managed to eliminate a 12-7 deficit thanks to a 14-8 scoring edge in the second stanza. The hosts wrapped up the victory with a 19-9 advantage in their third quarter.

Goree and Brent Bogle scored in double figures for the Rockets. Goree had 14 and Bogle sank 10 for the Westlanders who made five of nine at the free throw line as compared to Farmington's 21 of 29 output at the stripe.

At Franklin, the Rockets put together a 13-0 run in the second period that erased a 13-12 first period deficit as Mike Franks, Anthony Harrell and Bogel each connected on successive treys.

The rally lifted the Rockets to a 33-27 lead at halftime.

But Franklin came back and closed the gap, 45-41, for three, then held the Rockets to seven points in the fourth to win, 55-52.

Ruggiero wound up with a game high 17 points. Franks and Bogle accounted for 12 and 11 of the Rockets points.

Canton captures district mat title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The districts apparently bring out the best in Plymouth-Canton coach John Demsick's wrestlers. The Chiefs, who were unable to place first at five other separate tournaments this season, captured a district championship over the weekend.

Canton placed six wrestlers in the finals, two of whom won gold medals.

Canton's Doy Demsick decided South Lyon's Jake Williamson, 12-9, to pick up the district gold in the 125-pound class, and Canton heavyweight Derek McWatt won on a fall (2:34) over Tony Martinez, of Livonia Franklin, for the other Canton first-place.

Canton carded four second-places.

In the 119-pound class, Kyle Pitt lost by a decision to Dearborn's Rob Salavar, 4-1, and set-led for a silver. Detroit Catholic Central's Mike Werner defeated Greg Musser, 8-2, to walk off with the top prize in the 140-pound class.

Phil Rothwell, competing at 189-pounds, lost a heartbreaking 5-4 decision for the gold to Northville's Joe Rumbley, and Rothwell's teammate Ozzie Wagner was pinned in 5:47 by Livonia Churchill's Thom Kenderbossche.

"We typically have been placing 10 or 11 at the tournaments, so we were hoping to do that here," said Demsick. "Districts are always a dogfight, though. We were happy to place six in the finals and two in the consolation finals."

"Having eight wrestlers going on (to regionals) is probably high for the area."

We have a very tough district so it's a big accomplishment for this team," Demsick commented.

Steven Brooks finally feels that his Inkster Vikings have gotten the message. They have learned the basics of his system, the first-year Viking coach says.

"We have been close in most of the games we have played this year, but last week our kids really put what they have learned to use," said Brooks, after the Vikings jolted natural rival, Robichaud, 65-43, in a Mega-White Friday night game before the home crowd.

The Inkster victory came in the wake of Tuesday's triumph over a highly-touted Highland Park team. The Vikings edged the Parkers, 53-51, thanks to their defense, according to Brooks, and it also spoiled Highland Park's Parents' Night festivities.

"There has been a great admiration for this team," Brooks offered. "You know they are not eligible to play in the state playoffs because of the MHSAA's suspension, yet these kids have displayed dedication and commitment to their school and their community."

"You got to admire what they have done and accomplished."

Inkster will compete in the Mega Red-White playoffs, but they won't be invited to the district playoffs, which begins the second week in March.

Canton slashes WL Central's 15-game win streak

Chiefs looking good

First-year Plymouth-Canton basketball coach Jeremy Rheault could not have had a better week than last week.

Rheault and the Chiefs saw their impossible dream come true.

Rheault's Chiefs cut previously undefeated and state-ranked Walled Lake Central's winning streak at 15 on Tuesday. And in the aftermath of that big victory, Canton defeated Livonia Churchill, 66-53, Friday night.

"It was our biggest victory," said Rheault, referring to the triumph over Central. "Our kids fought hard and our execution was almost perfect."

"What else can I say than we're all elated around here."

You can bet that Rheault and the Chiefs will come down from that proverbial Cloud 9 and be prepared for the Western Lakes Conference playoffs. They entertain none other than natural rival, Salem, in the first-round of the playoffs, and the winner of Tuesday night's game catches the survivor of the Livonia Stevenson and Central game in the semis.

Canton received sterling performances from Oliver Wolcott, Jerry Gaines and Andrew Holmes in the Tuesday duel with Central.

"This trio really played a strong game," Rheault stressed.

Canton took a 13-8 lead in the opening period, but the Chiefs hit a cold streak and scored only six points in the second quarter. They still managed to hold a slim lead at half, 19-17.

The game was tied at 32 for three, but the Canton defense held Central to eight points in the final eight minutes and pulled out the victory, while Jason Priebe, Ryan Barker and Andrew Meagrow each sank a three in the closing minutes of the 47-42 victory.

Wolcott and Gaines each scored 12 points, while Holmes took on Central's 6-10 Mark Bortz and held the prolific scorer to 12 points.

Fouls foul up Salem

How do you beat a team that shoots 43 free throws and makes 36 of them?

In the case of Plymouth-Salem and North Farmington, you don't. North cashed in 36 free throws for a 83-79 overtime victory over Salem Friday night.

It was a hard loss for coach Bob Brodie and the Rocks to digest.

"They beat us at the free throw line," said Brodie. "You can't do much about that."

In contrast, Salem went to the line and canned 15 of 19 of its free throws.

Salem outscored North from the field, 26-13.

They managed to score only one basket in the extra period. They reaped the benefit of scoring 10 free throws.

From start to finish, the game was close as the Rocks trailed 21-19 after the opening period and 45-40 at the intermission. North increased their margin to 64-55 at the end of three, but then the Rocks turned on the heat and rolled to a 16-7 advantage to tie the game.

With two minutes to go, Salem tied the game at 71, and North decided to hold on to the ball for the last shot. The stall worked; but the last shot missed, forcing the game into overtime.

Salem put five players in two figures. Sophomore Dave Hoskins scored a career high 25 points and Pat Abraham accounted for 14, while Jeff Haar and Ryan Haydon each scored 13. Nick Tockman's contribution was 10 points.

Mike Leach and Mike Patterson, a cousin of Wayne Memorial's senior forward Matt Patterson, each scored 17 points.

Northville continued its domination over Salem, 57-54, as the winners outscored Salem 21-9 in the third period en route to a 57-54 victory.

Salem could not stop Aaron Reddes in the pivotal third period.

It's official

Upset-minded Canton falls to Northville, 36-30

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

After destroying natural opponent Plymouth-Salem, coach John Demsick and the Plymouth-Canton Chiefs believed that they were ready for state-ranked Northville. They're weren't.

Northville, currently ranked fifth in the state polls, carved out a 36-30 victory over its Western Lakes Conference rivals. The Colts finished the conference season with a perfect record.

"We've beat some good teams this year, including Lake Orion, which happens to be ranked fifth in the state in Division I earlier in the year when Northville was ninth, and also Ida, a strong team close to the Ohio border.

"And we also defeated Detroit Catholic Central, a mixed Temperance-Bedford squad, Saline, Adrian and South Lyon. But we just didn't quite finish what we wanted to do wrestling Northville. They are a strong team, to be sure."

Demsick said that he was "obviously disappointed, but not disheartened."

Canton did manage to produce a few undefeated wrestlers during the evening. In that category are Doy Demsick, at 125 (2-0); Chris Hosey, at 135 (2-0); Greg Musser, at 140 (2-0); Mike Siegrist, at 145 (2-0); Shahein Rajace, at 160 (1-0); Ozzie Wagner, at 215 (2-0) and Derek McWatt, a heavyweight (2-0).

With the dual meet and conference season behind them, Canton, and other area teams, will return to the mats this week to compete for district, then regional honors.

Canton wrapped up the season with an impressive 15-5 record. They were 8-2 in the WLAA.

"The better part of our wrestling on Wednesday evening was dedicated to the memory of a great man and coach, Ed Fowler who was coach Jay Helm's mentor as a youth. He will be remembered in our prayers and in the way we wrestle. We utilize many of the moves he taught us."

"We hope Ed enjoyed watching part of the meet at least," coach Demsick said.

up the regular season at Flat Rock. They'll host Wayne Memorial at 7 p.m. Friday in the first round of the conference playoffs. Then, on Monday Inkster will take on Ypsilanti and play Monroe in their season's finale on March 2.

In a game they led from start to finish, Inkster put three players in double figures against Robichaud. Julius Martin scored a game high 18 and also grabbed 11 rebounds; Darius Kincannon sank 16 points, all in the first half and he also picked off eight rebounds, while Michael Hunter, who was named to the all-Mega White Conference team, chipped in with 12 points.

Robichaud got 13 points from Jihad Abdullah and 10 from Martez Hardy.

Inkster made 11 of 16 at the free throw line as compared to Robichaud's 10 of 17.

The Vikings took a 13-9 first period lead, held a 34-23 advantage at intermission, then outscored the Bulldogs 15-9 to take a 49-32 lead into the final period.

It was close down to the final buzzer at Highland Park as the Parkers were up 15-14 after one and kept the lead, 26-24, at the half. But the Vikings thanks to Martin and freshman Lamont Parker, who scored back-to-back baskets that staked their team to a 22-14 third period, went up, 42-40 for three.

"The game was physical from the opening tip, and we stayed

Forsythe Award

Coaching legend receives honor

One of the local icons of high school football coaching was named last week as a recipient of a prestigious state award.

George Lovich, of Canton Township, who helped build a football dynasty in the mid 1970's at Livonia Franklin, was named one of two state coaches who will receive the 2001 Charles E. Forsythe Award.

The award is presented by the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the august body that governs high school sports in Michigan.

Lovich and Norm Johnson of Bangor, this year's recipients of the Forsythe, will be honored in Lansing next month during half-time ceremonies of the Boys Basketball Class B State Finals.

The championship game is scheduled for March 24 at the Breslin Student Events Center in East Lansing.

The annual award is in its 23rd year of existence and is named after former MHSAA Executive Director Charles E. Forsythe. One or two recipients are selected each year by the MHSAA Representative Council, based on an individual's outstanding contribution to the interscholastic athletics community.

Johnson has served for 39 years at Bangor High School as a teacher, coach and administrator. He recently retired from the athletic director's position he held at the school for 32 years to become an administrative assistant for athletics at the school.

Lovich served for 29 years in the Livonia School District as a teacher, football coach and athletic director. He was a junior high teacher and coach in Lincoln Park and Detroit for 2 1/2 years prior to going to Livonia. He was the Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year as well as the Detroit News' Coach of the Year at Franklin in 1974 and, while he retired from full-time coaching that year, he stayed on as an assistant coach to Armand Vigna whose Patriots captured the inaugural MHSAA Football Playoffs in Class A in 1975. Prior to the playoffs, the championships were decided by The Associated Press' final poll.

As a registered volleyball official, Lovich worked the MHSAA Finals in that sport the first three years it took place - 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Lovich has left a legacy as an athletic administrator, co-authoring an athletic department computer program in the early 1980's which is still in use across the country by schools in 39 states. He has been a speaker at numerous statewide and national athletic directors conferences on the computerization of athletic departments.

While an athletic director at Franklin, Lovich hosted MHSAA tournaments in three sports and helped sponsor the Association's Program of Athletic Coaches Education Program in his area.

Lovich has been a member of the MIAAA for over 20 years, still serving as its executive secretary/treasurer. He was honored with a state award of merit from the MIAAA in 1995 after winning honors as a regional athletic director of the year in 1985. He was also presented with an Outstanding Teacher Award from Livonia Public Schools in 1991, and was inducted into the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 1993.

In his community, Lovich still coaches football for youth and church leagues. He is a graduate of Monessen, Pa., High School, and earned a bachelor's degree from California, Pa., State College, and a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University.

"Faithful service to their local schools and communities first, and then out to contribute to educational athletics community outside those borders, typify Forsythe Award recipients, and Norm Johnson and George Lovich are no exception," said MHSAA Executive Director John E. "Jack" Roberts.

"These gentlemen are held in high regard for the work they have done with young people in their lifetimes, and they are people who continue to give back, even though both are retired from full-time roles in educational athletics. We're pleased to honor them as this year's Forsythe Award recipients."

Since its inception in 1978, only one other local educator has received the Forsythe Award. Lovich will join legendary Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn coach and athletic director Donald Domke as a recipient of one of the most coveted awards bestowed upon a high school educator.

Hoops tourney deadline is set

If you're planning to enter a junior basketball team in the North American Youth Sports Spring Tournament you have until March 16 to register.

The tournament is co-sponsored by the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department, which is also providing two sites for the competition. Competition will be staged at the Inkster High School and the Booker T. Dozier Parks and Recreation Department gym.

Tournament dates are April 6-8.

Teams will be divided in the following brackets: 5th-6th boys and girls; 7th and 8th boys and girls; 9th and 10th boys and girls; and 11th and 12th boys and girls.

Tournament officials make it clear that all grades are based on the grade in which a student is currently enrolled in.

There is a $95 per team registration fee; and the fee will guarantee each team a minimum of two games. Awards will be presented in each of the brackets.

For further information or to obtain an entry form, please call Mark Garrigan at 1-800-787-2265 or Ruth Williams, Inkster Parks and Recreation Supervisor at 734-728-7530.
